By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansans will pay $918,654 more in 1963 for postage, the Post Office Department in Washington estimated today.

The increase will come in pennies, nickels and dimes for the average person and in percentages slightly higher for businesses.

"But let's face it," said R. L. Sharpe, assistant postmaster at Little Rock, "at five cents, a letter is still a bargain."

First class postage will be up from 4 to 5 cents beginning at 12:01 a.m. next Monday. Air mail will be 8 cents, post cards 4 cents.

Congress increased postal rates to bring in an extra $600 million a year. The move is an attempt to make the Post Office Department self-supporting.

In 1961, Arkansas mail receipts were $15,396,311.50. The $918,654 figure was the estimate of the Post Office Department in Washington of the increase resulting from first class and air-mail hikes.

It didn't take into consideration one of the biggest money-makers, third class mail. It includes circulation on Page Two Dense fog covered much of western, northern and central Arkansas today. Visibility was a quarter of a mile at Little Rock and airplanes were grounded.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Little Rock said the fog would lift gradually today as temperatures climbed.

Light, scattered drizzle was reported along the Arkansas-Missouri border and a high pressure ridge extended from Pennsylvania into Oklahoma and took in northwestern Arkansas, bringing clear skies during the night.

The Weather Bureau predicted clear to partly cloudy skies and little change in temperature today. High temperatures were expected to be around 50 in the north to 60 in the south, with lows to night 30 to 40.

Minimum temperatures early today ranged from 29 at Walnut Ridge to 38 at Hot Springs and Ozark. High temperatures Wednesday were in the high 40s to low 60s in Arkansas.

The heavy fog made driving conditions hazardous and State Police in Little Rock reported traffic was slowed. But no accidents had been reported this morning.

Floridas Told to Give Account

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Payment of $20,000 from funds of the estate of George and Andrew Florida of Osceola to an accounting firm was ordered Wednesday by U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley.

The money would go to Thomas P. Florida, so he can pay Homer K. Jones & Co. of Memphis for services rendered in preparing material for the Florida case tax trial.

Henley's order went to Beverly J. Lambert, receiver for the properties of the Florida brothers. Henley must approve any expenditure in receivership.

The Floridas, one-time millionaires, are involved in a $9.5 million tax suit in federal court.

Jack Carson Actor, Taken by Death

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Jack Carson, who gained comic fame playing loudmouths in the movies, died Wednesday of cancer of the liver.

Although Carson, 52, had been ill for six months, and knew two months ago that his case was terminal, his death caught most of Hollywood by surprise. That was because Carson told no one—not even his wife or his closest friends—how sick he was until two weeks ago.

On New Year's day, he watched the Rose Bowl game and was thrilled with his beloved Wisconsin's amazing fourth quarter surge. Then Wednesday he was walking around normally and talking to his wife.

She left the room for a few minutes and when she returned, Carson was dead.

Frank Stempel, Carson's partner and close friend for 28 years, said: "Amazingly, Jack didn't lose a pound of weight during his illness."

In recent years, Carson had been touring the country in stock shows.

"I'm best at making people laugh, at entertainment. They don't want me for the morbid overexposed stuff Hollywood is turning out nowadays," he said a few months ago during a round of golf with a reporter friend.

He collapsed last Aug. 26 on an Anderson, N.J., stage during a dress rehearsal of "Critic's Choice." Doctors called his ailment a stomach disorder then.

But he later found out it was cancer. No one knew it but Carson and his doctor.

Carson was born in Carmen, Man., Canada, but moved as a youngster to Milwaukee. And to the day he died, he was as Milwaukee as lager beer.

Although Carson's career from vaudeville to movies was mostly comedy, he was a better than average serious actor. He etched two memorable performances in "A Star Is Born" and "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

He married four times. His first wife was dancer Betty Alice Linde, his vaudeville partner; singer Kay St. Germaine, by whom he had two children, was his second, and actress Lola Albright was his third.

He married his fourth, the former Sandra Tucker, two years ago.

Carson's funeral will be conducted Friday at Forest Lawn, the same day that rites will be held for Dick Powell, also a cancer victim.

The report started when the U.S. Embassy in Accra asked the Red Cross for blood for a missionary. Department officials said they were checking the reports concerning the missionary. They termed the embassy request routine.

The State Department, the officials added, does not have the name of the missionary.

Kerr Services Set for Friday

It is the church in which the late senator taught a Bible class for many years.

Negotiations Resume in Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations resume today in the New York City and Cleveland newspaper strikes following recesses in the talks since late last week.

The lengthy newspaper blackouts led to more reports of serious impacts on business and industry and on the people's way of life.

The 26-day-old shutdown of New York City's nine major newspapers was said to be crippling the Broadway theater business. The report was made Tuesday by Thomas F. Troy, president of the West Side Association of Commerce, after he surveyed ticket brokers, producers, managers and others in the field.

The 34-day-old strike against Cleveland's two daily newspapers has been a hard blow to Greater Cleveland businesses that rely on newspaper advertising. Retail business is slumping. Now and used car sales are far down, and restaurant, sports, entertainment and cultural enterprises report they are feeling the pinch.

In the New York blackout, the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service scheduled resumption of negotiations late today between the publishers and the striking Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union.

In Cleveland, negotiations resume late today between representatives of the Cleveland Union of the AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild and the Cleveland Press & News and the Plain Dealer. Talks between the publishers and the independent Teamsters Union broke off Saturday with no date set for resumption.

A unity committee representing 10 newspaper unions in Cleveland said several of the unions would not return to work at the two of the town's newspapers until they course she would take.

Says Negro Progress to Be Retarded

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Dollarway School Board said Wednesday the educational progress of a 14-year-old Negro and that of other students would be retarded if her admission to the predominantly white Dollarway school is forced this term.

George Howard, father of the girl, Sarah, and a Pine Bluff Negro attorney, said his daughter is a good student and her transfer would not set back the progress of her education or that of anyone else.

Both sides filed briefs before U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley Wednesday in the Dollarway integration case.

The school is now attended by one Negro in the second grade, Samuel Wayne Cat. Three others have dropped out.

Judge Henley ordered admission of the girl last October unless the board could justify keeping her out on some other basis than opposition to transfer between schools.

Henley is expected to issue a ruling shortly on whether the girl will be admitted for the second term, beginning late this month. She now attends all-Negro Townsend Park School, the only other school in the Dollarway District on the north edge of the city.

The board gave these reasons why the girl should not be admitted to the school this term: —She was taking French at Townsend Park. It is not offered at Dollarway and there is no suitable elective for her to take.

—A transfer would break the vital teacher-student relationship she had built up in 10 years at Townsend Park.

—Dollarway is somewhat ahead in Townsend Park in a geometry course she would take.

Plant Blast Toll Believed to Be 16

By JAMES R. POLK

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Crews with cranes dug into the rubble of a meat packing plant today in search of the bodies of four missing workers believed to have died with 12 others in a scalding explosion.

Fifty-five other workers were injured in the explosion that shot through the Home Packing Co. plant here Wednesday. Six were listed in critical condition.

"I had my left hand free," worker Gerald Fagg, 20, West Terre Haute, related afterward. "I kept digging, digging, and digging. There was a body right under me. I could feel the flesh move. Finally I dug a hole and saw a guy above me. I pinched him on his leg and wouldn't let him go."

"I smelled something, a rotten smell, an awful, rotting smell," said Donald Melcho, 28, Terre Haute. "That was about 10 'til 7. A little after that it exploded."

Authorities today remained uncertain of the cause of the blast. Investigators were checking the possibility of a gas explosion.

Fire Chief Norman Pesler said, "The probable cause is uncertain and it'll probably stay that way."

More than 200 workers were inside the meat packing plant when the force ripped through the 55-year-old building, designated last month as a civil defense fallout shelter.

The crumbling rubble burst ammonia lines in the refrigerator unit in the basement and spread a stifling blanket over the area. Sister Justine at St. Anthony Hospital said, "We were all crying and coughing" from the ammonia coming from the lungs of the injured men rushed to the emergency ward.

Nurses donned respirator masks and oxygen equipment in order to treat the patients.

169 Vaccinated

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The State Health Department said Wednesday there were 169 persons in Arkansas vaccinated last year against yellow fever. Dr. T. J. Herron, state health officer, said this was the most persons inoculated in one year since the vaccination center was set up in 1957. Arkansas is one of 119 designated Yellow Fever Vaccination Centers in the United States.

Fabus Wants Increase in Welfare Pay

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Fabus said today he would ask the 1963 legislature to increase the maximum welfare grant from $65 to $85 a month.

Fabus said there was no immediate prospect of increasing the grant to more than $70 a month, but the higher maximum would give the Welfare Department leeway to give further raises if more money becomes available before the legislature meets again.

The governor said that only several thousand of the more than 70,000 welfare clients are eligible for the maximum grant. The average check now runs about $60 a month.

Fabus met today with division heads in the Welfare Department and told them the administration plans no policy changes in the department as a result of the resignation of Commissioner Carl Adams.

Today was Adams' last day on the job. He will remain on the payroll until April 1 to use up accrued annual leave. Asst. Commissioner A. J. (Red) Moss has been named acting commissioner.

Fabus said he told welfare workers he expected them to "fully implement" a new federal regulation which permits welfare clients to earn up to $30 a month without losing anything from their grant.

The law actually stipulates that $10 a month can be earned without affecting the grant and that $25 of the next $50 earned is exempt.

"But we're not going to fool around too much with these complications," Fabus said, indicating that in Arkansas a welfare recipient will be able to earn the full $30 without doing anything.

2 Accidents Cause Heavy Damage Here

Early this morning in dense fog an auto driven by Mike Morris ran into a parked state police car in front of Trooper W. T. Brewster's home at 1203 S. Pine.

City Police said the state car wasn't damaged much but the Morris auto had heavy damage. Yesterday at 4:45 at Third and Pine an auto driven by Mrs. Carl Smith pulled onto Third Street and into an auto driven by Dewey Putman.

The impact turned the Putman vehicle completely around and it halted upside down in the street. Mrs. Putman sustained minor injuries.

The Putman vehicles was badly damaged. City Police charged Mrs. Smith with failure to yield the right-of-way.

An enthusiastic Board greeted the new president and pledged their support to him in his efforts to carry out these plans. ## Worst Storm in British History

LONDON (AP)—A new blizzard swirled steadily down on southern England today, deepening the worst snow in Britain's 100 years of recorded weather history.

Continuous snowfalls were forecast for the rest of the day. Weathermen said they could see no sign of a break in the cold before next week.

The temperature rose above freezing at only a few places in the nation.

At least 17 deaths were blamed on the paralyzing weather, and more were feared.

Thousands of farm animals lay dead in the snow. Thousands more were in danger unless food could be got to them. Vegetables were scarce and costly in shops as the snows ruined crops.

The new blizzard struck first Wednesday night at the Isle of Wight, off the southern coast. Then gales pushed the storm inland.

Highways that had been plowed clear Wednesday were blocked once more. Isolated communities were locked in even more tightly by drifts that rose in some places to 25 feet.

London got only a moderate new snowfall during the night. But a film of hard-packed snow and ice made the streets dangerous.

Weather conditions continued grim on the Continent too. Belgium was frosted with a thin layer of ice, and in Brussels no buses and virtually no private cars braved slippery streets.

There was heavy rain and snow in the Italian Alps.

Norway, where the winter ranks as the third coldest of the 20th century, had temperatures as low as 22 degrees below zero.

Meet Scheduled

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Fabus has scheduled a meeting today at the state capitol to discuss requests for legislation during the 1963 General Assembly and administrative details. The governor delivers his fifth inaugural address Jan. 15 to a joint session of the House and Senate.

Arkansas-born Dick Powell Dies of Cancer

By JAMES BACON

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dick Powell, who made his fame singing love songs to Ruby Keeler and his millions in the tycoon role he loved best, died of cancer Wednesday night with June Allyson holding his hand.

The 38-year-old movie and television veteran had been in a coma two days.

His death climaxed a sad day for Hollywood, following by only five hours the death—also of cancer—of Jack Carson.

For the first time in recent memory, two funerals for major Hollywood personalities will be held on the same day—Friday.

Powell was the fourth Hollywood giant felled by the disease in 18 days. Charles Lughton, who died Dec. 16, and Thomas Mitchell, who died two days later, were the others.

Miss Allyson, Powell's actress-wife, had sat holding his hand most of the evening. It was she who discovered that he had breathed his last.

Others at the bedside were Powell's two —The academic progress of other students would be slowed. Howard countered:

—French is an elective and not required for graduation.

—Sarah is a good student and would have no trouble adjusting to a new school.

—The girl already has an overload of subjects and would not have to replace French.

—The transfer of one student couldn't set back the progress of others.

The school board has sought to prevent admission of the girl to the school until the fall, when she would start the 11th grade. Howard seeks her admission in the coming semester.

Sarah Howard is an intervenor in the original Dollarway suit.

In October, Henley told the school board it could make assignments under its desegregation plan, which embodies the Arkansas Pupil Placement Law for the remainder of this year and for the 1963-64 term.

But the validity of the plan is "giving the court concern," Henley added.

a tycoon. It was the perfect type casting. The success of Four Star proves that."

Powell married three times, first to Mildred Maund in his pre-Hollywood days. Second was Miss Blondell. They married in 1936 and divorced in 1944.

The next year he married Miss Allyson, 19, years younger than he.

They divorced in 1961 but reconciled before the divorce became final.

Powell's fortune was immense but he soft-pedaled his wealth. Some sources call him one of Hollywood's wealthiest. He was almost as successful in real estate as he was in show business.

He bought Southern California land when it was cheap and sold it when values zoomed.

Negroes Plan a National Boycott

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A nationwide campaign to boycott products of firms that refuse to hire Negroes is being organized by Negro groups, the Rev. Martin Luther King says.

The Negro leader made this announcement Tuesday at a rally observing the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

King said details of the boycott would be worked out later. He named no firms.

King told an audience of about 7,000 that Negroes should call on President Kennedy to issue a proclamation ending segregation.

"Segregation is nothing but slavery covered up with certain niceties," he said.

ulars and other material and will be up from 2.5 to 2 cents on 200 or more pieces, or up from 3 to 4 cents on individual pieces.

Rates on second class mail, newspapers and regular publications, will go up from 2.5 cents per pound to 2.6 cents per pound for the news portion and from 3 cents per pound to 3.4 cents for advertising, Sharpe said.

Publishers must submit reports on how much of their publication is news matter and how much is advertising.

The second class rate increase has resulted in the Hope Star increasing its annual mail delivery rate by $2 and in the Searcy Daily Citizen discontinuing Saturday publication.

The overall Arkansas mail receipts for 1962 haven't been figured, the Post Office Department in Washington said. But the Little Rock Post Office alone had $4,147,885 in receipts, Sharpe said, and estimated an increase of 15 per cent because of the new rates.

Postal receipts have increased every year for the last 25 years, he said.

Sharpe said he doesn't think the increased rates will affect the volume of mail. "Seventy-five per cent of all mail is for business use and most letters are generated by business firms," he said.

First class mail accounts for more than half of the mail volume.

Education of the public is the biggest headache the new mail rates will bring on post office workers. The first day under the new rates, Sharpe said, a flood of letters with four cent stamps is expected.

The letters will be sent, marked "Postage Due."

Sharpe said he expected the situation was the same all over the state, although he said he could not speak for other post offices since each office is an independent operation.

Regular supplies of stamps come to Arkansas post offices from the St. Louis Post Office. Large supplies of five cent stamps have been in Arkansas for some time and Sharpe said many business firms already have stocked up on them.

If someone has a backlog of four cent stamps, he can buy one cent stamps to go with them.

A number of commemorative stamps will be issued in the five cent series, Sharpe said. An American Flag stamp will be issued in Washington Jan. 9.

Powell Had Glittering Show Career

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dick Powell, who died Wednesday night at 53 after a glittering show business career, got his start playing saxophone and clarinet in a dim silent movie house in Little Rock.

That was in 1923 with a rag-tag band called the Peter Pan Orchestra. It was organized by Tommy Scott, who still has a small combo in Little Rock, the Peter Pan band, which branched out from the orchestra pit of the New Theater on Main Street to roaring Little Rock dance halls.

Powell picked up a megaphone one night and began singing. Scott recalled recently. Then some "glitter" was added to the megaphone and Powell's singing became a regular attraction with the band. At the time he was attending Little Rock College.

The group used to meet at Dawson's Drug Store at 15th and Main Streets in Little Rock. It included the late James Melton, who later sang leading roles with the Metropolitan Opera. He was then singing with a dance band during the summer.

Powell and company often set up jam sessions in the ballroom of the Capitol Hotel, then late at night adjourned to the home of one of the band members and played until dawn.

In 1924 Powell and Scott joined a vaudeville revue unit and toured on the Keith-Orpheum circuit. Powell sang and Scott played piano.

After some months, Scott said, they got homesick and came home. Scott stayed and played the local musical circuit, but the stint in vaudeville convinced Powell to try his luck in the big time, Scott said.

He got his first chance with the Royal Peacock Orchestra in Indianapolis while it was playing in a Little Rock dance hall. From

Balloon Traveled

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Last Sept. 23, Anthony Halter of Conway made a balloon of plastic clothes bags, filled it with natural gas from a stove and turned it loose. Last Monday, while deer hunting in the rugged White River Bottoms in Desha County, Amos E. Palmer and his son discovered the deflated balloon hanging from a tree limb about 45 feet above the ground. They retrieved it by shooting off the limb and took it home — to Conway, 150 miles away. The bag contained a note with the names of Hitler's three children, their address and the date of launching.

there it was a rough road to the Stanley Theater in Pittsburgh, where as master of ceremonies in 1933 he was discovered by a Warner Bros. talent scout who took him to Hollywood.

Powell moved to Little Rock with his parents from Mountain View, when he was five. They are now dead. His older brother, Howard S. Powell of Chicago, is vice president of the Illinois Central Railroad. His younger brother, Luther, retired recently after 25 years with International Harvester Co. in Rio de Janeiro. He lives in Little Rock.

Powell's last visit to Little Rock was in 1950 when he and his wife, June Allyson, came for the second annual Rose Festival. The southern premier of their picture, "The Reformer and the Redhead" was shown for the benefit of the Little Rock Boys Club, of which Powell was an early member.

Pressure on Tshombe to Make Peace

By ROBIN P. MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) —The U.N. prodded Katangan President Mse Tshombe today—both with a combat column moving toward his Kolwezi stronghold and with financial pressure—to end his secession without condition once and for all.

Foreign consuls in Tshombe's capital at Elisabethville were reported still fearful that the determined secessionist would carry out his threat of widespread sabotage and destruction of mining and other installations in the ore-rich province.

Already, correspondents in Elisabethville reported, many bridges and power lines have been blown up. Elisabethville was without electricity.

The reports said Union Miniere, the European-owned mining firm which digs Katanga's copper and cobalt, was hurriedly removing valuable machinery from its refinery at Jadotville, 70 miles northwest of Elisabethville, fearing a scorched earth campaign.

There were contradictory reports on the progress of the Indian combat column advancing toward Jadotville and Kolwezi, 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville, where Tshombe took refuge with his air force and the bulk of his remaining armed forces.

The U.N. column had been delayed at the Lufira River, 20 miles east of Jadotville, by the destruction of road and rail bridges. One report said the column got a powerful vanguard cross under heavy mortar fire.

Lt. Gen. Prem Chand, Indian U.N. commander in Katanga, described the fighting along the Jadotville road as the heaviest since clashes erupted into a third round of U.N.-Katangan combat last Friday.

On the financial front U.N. sources in New York said they expected Andre Van Rey, Belgian governor of the Bank of Katanga, to come to Leopoldville in a day or two for talks on dividing up Union Miniere's $200 million-a-year foreign currency earnings.

The talks will have nothing to do with the $40 million a year Union Miniere pays to Katanga in taxes, export duties and royalties. An earlier report from Brussels had indicated Union Miniere was prepared to discuss paying some of this fund to the central government, but sources at U.N. headquarters said this did not appear to be the case yet.

The two funds have kept Katanga afloat as a secessionist province for 2½ years and would help lift a united Congo out of its present economic misery.

U.S. Again Fines Dermott Farmer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A judgment of $25,891 was awarded the Agriculture Department Wednesday against James Weir of Dermott, for overplanting his 1961 rice acreage allotment.

The judgment, ordered by Judge Gordon E. Young in federal District Court, is the fourth against Weir for overplanting. The others were for $16,972 for overplanting rice in 1959; 10,244 for 1960 overplanting of rice and $1,218 for overplanting wheat in 1961.

Weir's farm was sold at auction last April 17 for $60,000 to satisfy the $16,972 judgment. The remainder of the money was held in the registry of the court to satisfy succeeding judgments.

Interest Free Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Community Facilities Administration announced Wednesday a $1,000 interest-free loan to finance preliminary planning of water facilities for Omaha, Ark., in northwest Boone County. Estimated cost of the project is $65,000.

Wednesday by the federal Communications Commission. The station would be at Hot Springs.

Indicators Show 1962 Boom Year

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Staff Writer

By all the economic indicators, 1962 was a boom year for Arkansas business.

Farm production, retail trade, tax collections, employment and the rate of industrial development all showed healthy increases over 1961 which was itself a good year.

The value of crop production—an extremely important figure in an agriculture state—soared from $519 million in 1961 to $537 million. The overall total increased despite a drop in value of cotton, the No. 1 crop, from $278,449,000 to $263,456,000. Soybeans and rice more than made up the deficit with soybeans jumping from $110,154,000 to $136,770,000 and rice increasing from $69,888,000 to $83,632,000.

The decrease in value was attributed to a slightly smaller crop and a lower season average price. Crop value figures were compiled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Arkansas State Chamber of and Jeff were Christmas visitors in Houston, Tex., with Mr. and Mrs. Mount Revels and family.

Kathy and Tommy Kinser were holiday guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Tom Kinser.

The Jack Pritcherts, Prairie Grove, have been the guests of Mrs. H. O. Green.

Mrs. Fonzie Moses and Miss Mary Roy Moses visited relatives in Ashdown over the New Year holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland Brown and Bill, Benton, spent the past holiday weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fornby.

Miss Mary Charlene Horton returned to Crossett Wednesday after a holiday visit with Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Horton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frazier and Mrs. B. C. Hyatt attended the Bass-Hyatt wedding in North Little Rock last Friday. Mrs. Hyatt went to Perryville with Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hyatt and family for a visit afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ammons of Prescott visited here Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ammons. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dew and son, Little Rock, were Christmas guests of Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klipsch and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Whitworth flew to Shreveport Sunday and visited the Rev. Clifton Bell.

State Gets More Cash From U.S.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas has received $52,012,918 in various federal aid grants from July 1, Dec. 31, the first six months of the state's fiscal year, the state Treasurer's Office reported Wednesday.

The grants for the period just ended were $4,181,029 above those received during a similar period a year ago, the office reported.

General revenues during the current fiscal period were $51,575,773, up $3,636,518 over the previous six months. Special revenues, at $36,002,378, were up $2,177,508 from a like period a year ago.

The office reported total funds cleared since July 1 1962 at $157,148,323, up $12,301,579 over receipts handled in the six months after July 1, 1961.

Doctors Strike

ROME (AP) — Doctors in all Italian hospitals struck for one hour today to call attention to their demand for Parliament to establish pensions and retirement at 65 for doctors and medical assistants in state hospital.

Commerce said the state got 78 new manufacturing plants and 14 existing plants were expanded, creating 12,323 new jobs. Certified investment in new and expanded plants was $93,422,000.

The total of new jobs was almost double the 1961 figure of 6,040. The 1962 outlay for investment was exceeded in only three previous years.

Larger plants announced during the year included Cooper Tire and Rubber Co., at Texarkana, $11 million, and Gerber Products Co., at Fort Smith, $10 million.

Major expansion expenditures include $22 million at the Pine Bluff Arsenal and $3.5 million each at Arkansas Cotton Mills, Inc., at Morrilton, Georgia Pacific Corp., at Crossett and International Paper Co., in Pine Bluff.

The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, which uses a different set of figures from the chamber, estimated that more than 15,000 jobs were added during the year. The AIDC's year end report will be issued in about two weeks.

Non - agricultural employment was up from 500,000 to 503,400, according to the state Employment Security Division. The total number of persons in wage and salary jobs rose from 381,900 to 386,300.

Average unemployment declined from 16,658 to 15,240 and the state paid only $12,232,000 in unemployment compensation in 1962, compared to $15,578,000 the year before.

State tax collections during the first six months of the fiscal year continued to run about $1 million a month higher than the same month in the previous year. This trend was established in the fiscal year which ended last June 30 when the annual total was $168 million, compared to $157 million the previous year.

Total revenues for the July-December period were $83,421,000, compared to $77,302,000 for the same period in 1961.

Wife Sick With Jealousy

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My husband has just left for night school and I'm in such a turmoil I feel sick. My problem is jealousy which is ridiculous for he never looks twice at another woman. Yet fear clutches at my heart as I picture his ardor waning when the years creep up on me and I lose my appeal. Who wants an old hag around?

The young girls sure seem to go for older men, though and that's why I worry. My husband is taking a new and better paying job in the near future, one where his associates will be women. The very thought slays me.

Reason tells me I have every cause to be happy: this charming husband, three fine children, a lovely home and comparatively good health—save for an ulcer brought on by worrying about things like those I've mentioned. In the past I would have had no sympathy for a woman as stupid and blindly emotional as I am today. My husband was the jealous one then. Now that the tables are turned I can appreciate the torment he experienced.

If he is to associate with other women, then I shall associate with other men; so with the beginning of the New Year I'm going to night school too with the idea of equipping myself for a really good job where I can meet people, take coffee breaks with the men employees and, in other words, do everything possible to be attractive. Please tell me how to save reason and marriage! — Miserable Wife

Dear Miserable: Jealousy, among other things, is an obsession. If you so fill your life with other interests, this all-absorbing fixation will be crowded out of existence. If you don't, that which you so dread will surely overtake you.

When I say "other interests," I'm thinking mainly of your children, for the rearing of them is your major responsibility right now. Time enough for an outside job when this is done. To do a hang-up one for them demands sacrifice in time, energy and thought.

You've got to forget self. Once you succeed in doing that, the fires of jealousy become ashes. Strengthen your will by forcing yourself to do some physical work about the house or for the children every time a jealous thought pops into your head. Let off steam

That Extra Ingredient Has Worked

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A cookbook writer once explained that the way most "new" dishes are developed is by adding an extra ingredient to an old recipe or by substituting one thing for another—nutmeg for cinnamon, for instance.

Skillful chefs of television cooked up a panel show called "What's My Line?" more than decade ago. Now there are programs using the same basic recipe scattered through television schedules like raisins in a fruit-cake.

Ingredients of the not successful include liberal quantities of celebrities, mixed into a rather simple guessing game. It is spiced by small talk, wisecracks and commercial plugs by the celebrities. The recipe always permits some participation by the audience—a vital element in the recipe.

Now still another variation of the good old recipe has been launched, "The Match Game." It will be available hereafter daily from 4 to 4:25 p. m. EST or NBC.

The first game was played on Monday and if you like "Pass-word" you'll probably like this one too.

Arlene Francis, a good games-woman who can be counted upon for amusing side remarks, was captain of a team of three. The other two players were, as in all good television games, chosen from the studio audience. Skitch Henderson captained the rival team.

Leader Gene Rayburn, in one round, instructed each player to write the name of a "game played on grass." Members of Henderson's team picked golf, croquet and football. But Miss Francis and another member of her team chose tennis, which constituted a "Match" and a "win."

That's all there is to it—except the complicated scoring, the usual buzzers, bells, gadgets and chit-chat. It's an innocuous time-killer and obviously will not do much to lift daytime television levels.

Man Behind Camera Can Be Guilty

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The camera—or at least the man behind it—can be as guilty of the cliché as the writer. Thus, producer Gerald Green recently issued a list of tired news-shots he wishes could be banned forever from the television screens.

Green, who produces NBC's "Chet Huntley Reporting," started his list with the familiar shot of people looking in shop windows.

Other cliché scenes—most of which are short cuts to making a point—are close-ups of price tags, film showing slums quickly followed by pictures showing life among the rich, and new apartment buildings going up on the outskirts of the town.

Green's cliché list was directed toward network correspondents charged with producing foreign news reports. He expressed strong feelings about the almost inevitable shots of "the minister of security explaining, in unintelligible English, that here is Communist threat."

All these have familiar look to the television viewer. Green however neglected to mention his favorite—if that's the right word—news-show cliché. This is the "correspondent on the scene" shot. The intrepid reporter is shown, usually hatless but bundled up in overcoat or trenchcoat, standing smack in front of a familiar landmark—the Arc de Triomphe or 10 Downing Street—usually in a strong wind, reading his off-camera notes.

Now that more than four million copies of "The First Family" have been sold, and it has been played so often people are getting a little bored with it, some radio stations are ordering their disc jockeys to stop playing the record satirizing the presidential family.

Cities Fighting

Arkla Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A petition by El Dorado and Pine Bluff for a rehearing on a rate increase by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company was taken under consideration Wednesday at the opening of the state Supreme Court.

The two cities originally were parties in a suit challenging the company's request to the Public Service Commission for a rate increase.

The increase was allowed by the commission and the Pulaski Circuit Court upheld the commission ruling. The circuit court decision was upheld by the state Supreme Court Dec. 3 in a ruling on an appeal.

The court took six other petitions for rehearing under consideration Wednesday. It handed down no opinion.

One Score But It Really Counted

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — John Barnes scored his only basket of the night with seven seconds left in overtime to give Arkansas AM&N an 82-81 victory over Alcorn here Wednesday night.

Barnes sank a layup after Alcorn, leading 81-80 missed a foul try. James Allen led the visitors with 26 points while Odell Agnew had 21 for Alcorn.

The score was 69-

Bearcats Have Chalked Up Another Win

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chalk up another big number for Cincinnati's hot-handed Bearcats—28.

The Bearcats, unchallenged as No. 1 in college basketball and gunning for their third straight national championship, extended the country's longest current winning streak and set a school record for consecutive victories Wednesday night by taking their 28th in a row. They humbled Houston 79-56.

Elsewhere — seventh-ranked Duke overcame Virginia 82-65 behind brilliant second-half performance by Moon Mullins; Georgia Tech and DePaul remained unbeaten, the Engineers whipping the Air Force 61-48 and the Blue Demons routing Baldwin-Wallace 89-70; Notre Dame tripped Indiana 73-70 and Purdue downed Drake in overtime 83-79.

Tom Thacker had the most productive scoring night of his three-season varsity career for Cincinnati with 23 points as the Bearcats breezed against visiting Houston. Cincinnati broke an early 6-6 tie with nine straight points, led 43-28 at the half, and kept pouring it on.

Mullins pumped in 25 second-half points in Duke's unexpectedly tough tussle with Virginia in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Cavaliers led through much of the first half and had a 45-41 edge on the favored Blue Devils midway in the second. But scoring bursts of six and eight points by Mullins sparked Duke to the victory. The 6-foot-4 junior had 25 points after intermission and 30 for the night.

Georgia Tech's tall and muscular Yellow Jackets, now 8-0, took charge early against the Air Force in an attack led by Keith Weekly, who scored 10 of their first 11 points. DePaul, 7-0 and with its three front men averaging 6-7, sputtered at the start against Baldwin-Wallace's press but gradually pulled away to a healthy 54-33 advantage at half-time.

Larry Sheffield paced Notre Dame's Irish, who trailed by 21 points at one stage of the first half and were behind 46-30 at intermission. The sophomore guard held Indiana ace Jimmy Rayl without a field goal in the second half, hit the winning basket with 14 seconds to go and added the final bucket at the gun. Sheffield finished with 14 points, 10 in the second half, while Rayl scored 21, but only one in the second half.

Mel Garland netted 30 points, six of them in the extra period, in Purdue's overtime victory against Drake.

A Pretty Fair Catch for January

This is a pretty fair catch of crappie made earlier this week by State Policeman Pod Porterfield, left, U. G. Garrett and Jimmy Porterfield. The largest was two pounds but all were good ones. How many? They said 39 and we expect that many could be counted in the picture. Where? Your guess is as good as ours as they reported catching them at three different lakes. What we'd like to know is how that buffalo, upper left, got onto the picture?

Hope Star SPORTS

Question of Goalposts Is Discussed

NEW YORK (AP)—College football should move the goalposts up to the goal line to encourage field goals and permit unlimited substitution, and the National Football League should adopt the two-point conversion option.

This was the opinion of the nation's sportswriters and broadcasters who participated in the annual year-end Associated Press survey of highlights and trends of the college football season.

The question was a two-part query, asking: 1. What rule does the pro football code have that you would like see adopted by the colleges? 2. What rule do the colleges have that might help the pros?

Moving the goalposts up 10 yards from the end zone to the goal line would increase the use of the field goal as a major scoring weapon as in the professional game. That was the general opinion of those who favored this change for the college game.

The rule was changed years ago to protect college players who faced injury when they scrimmaged on the goal line near the goal posts.

As for the college rule which might be adopted by the pros, the AFL already has the two-point conversion. Last season the 14-team National League played 98 games, and only four ended in ties. There were 56 games in the eight-team AFL with one tie.

The conversion rule allows the customary one point for a place-kick, or two if the scoring team tries a pass or a running play.

Copper Mine Now Behind UN Plan

By ROBIN P. MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The giant Union Minière copper mining combine fell in line today with United Nations plans for quick reunification of the Congo, even while sporadic fighting persisted within Katanga, the secessionist province.

At the same time, Moïse Tshombe, beleaguered president of the breakaway province, appealed to U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant for a meeting with some U.N. representative "not engaged in the operation now in progress" in Katanga.

The company — with Belgians, Britons and Americans among its backers — announced in Brussels its experts will leave tonight for Leopoldville.

Their mission, as defined in a company communique: "To assist representatives of the Congolese central government and of Katanga in the drawing and drafting of a project for repatriation of the currency resulting from the sale of Union Minière products."

The announcement came less than 24 hours after Tshombe, leader of a cause that seemed militarily doomed, agreed conditionally to return to Elisabethville for renewed dickering on unification.

A U.N. spokesman in Leopoldville said the world organization so far had not taken cognizance of Tshombe's newest appeal.

In a message to Thant from diplomatic sources in Katanga, Tshombe said:

"I beg you to arrange an immediate meeting between myself and one of your representatives not engaged in the operation now in progress."

"I confirm my adherence to the U. Thant plan (for reunifying the Congo)."

Thant's unity plan, which he wants put into effect by Jan. 14, calls for a 50-50 split of Katanga's revenue with the impoverished central government of Premier Cyrille Adoula. Most of the revenues come from Union Minière. Tshombe's government has been getting about $40 million a year from taxes, royalties and dividends.

A delayed dispatch from Elisabethville and fresh radio reports from Belgian sources in Elisabethville told of heavy fighting between U.N. troops and Katangans on the Elisabethville-Jadotville road, which leads northwest toward Tshombe's emergency headquarters in Kolwezi.

A dispatch from Kitwe, Northern Rhodesia, said heavy fighting continued today. The dispatch, quoting radio broadcasts from Elisabethville, said white soldiers of Tshombe's gendarmerie were believed to make up most of the opposition.

Castro Raps Kennedy as Vulgar Pirate

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro attacked President Kennedy today as a vulgar pirate chief and told his people Cuba had forced the United States government to pay indemnity for the newly released prisoners of the Bay of Pigs invasion.

"Even though they try to dissimulate, the imperialists agreed to pay our country the indemnity that the revolutionary tribunals set for the Giron Beach invaders," Castro declared in a televised address marking the fourth anniversary of his revolution.

"They call it ransom but the fact is that they had to accept the payment of indemnifications," Castro shouted. "For the first time in its history, imperialism paid an indemnification of war."

Castro criticized Kennedy bitterly for his warm welcome to the returned prisoners. "This man acted like vulgar pirate chief to meet with these cowards and then say to the world that their flag would return to a free Havana," Castro told a crowd gathered in Havana's Plaza de la Revolution.

He sneered at the remarks Kennedy had addressed to "the captive people of Cuba," and declared to the throng: "We are free and we are the free territory of Cuba. Now more than ever we are respected and the best proof is the very respect which we inspire in the imperialists, the respect which is inspired by a people who cannot be made to submit."

Castro spoke after a military parade which lasted an hour and half and featured as its climax a display of coastal and surface-to-air rockets.

The anti-aircraft rockets were described as the most modern in existence.

"They can knock down any enemy plane at its highest flight ceiling," said a commentator. The televised parade was watched by

Trusty Escapee Is Recaptured

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — William Lee Hall Jr., 35, Negro trusty who escaped from Cummins State Prison Farm Monday, was captured Tuesday near Grady by a Lincoln County deputy sheriff.

Hall, who was serving a 10-year sentence for robbery, burglary and grand larceny from Arkansas County, walked off from a work gang Monday. He surrendered without resistance.

The coastal rockets were called a "new and powerful arm of our armed forces."

Earlier in the parade, numbers of Soviet-built tanks passed in front of a reviewing stand occupied by Castro and other government officials. Other weapons displayed included rocket launcher, antitank artillery, four-barreled machine guns and heavy artillery.

Military units included infantrymen, sailors and male and female militia companies. Helicopters and MIG planes passed overhead.

Presidential Contenders Sworn in

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A leading but unannounced contender for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination and an off-mentioned darkhorse candidate for GOP standard-bearer were among several governors sworn into office New Year's Day.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, one of the foremost possible presidential selections of the GOP, began his second term of office.

George W. Romney, a darkhorse GOP choice, was inaugurated to serve his first term as Michigan's governor.

Romney said he did not have "an eye to greener pastures elsewhere."

Here is some of what they and other governors said in their inaugural addresses:

Rockefeller, 54, called for fiscal integrity in government. "I believe that political leaders have the affirmative duty ruthlessly to prune out wasteful and nonessential expenditures of the taxpayers' money," Rockefeller said.

"We must strive even more ceaselessly" to extend opportunity and dignity to "every member of all groups in our society, no matter what his race, color, religion, origin or status."

Romney, 55, pleaded for an end to "the cold war that has been hindering our state's progress."

"Our troubles have focused the national spotlight on Michigan, and solving these troubles will focus the national spotlight on these solutions," Romney said.

"Concentration on the job at hand, not campaigning constantly for re-election, and dedication to that job, without an eye to greener pastures elsewhere, are other basic tenets of conscientious public official. A governor these will be my guides."

Polk Take Over Berlin Command

BERLIN (AP) — Maj. Gen. James H. Polk became the U.S. commandant in Berlin today, pledging continued presence of American troops in the divided city to assure its freedom.

"We are here to stay and will stay with no change in our well-established missions," Polk said at a 15-minute ceremony.

He received the U.S. Army garrison flag from Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II.

Watson, commandant for 20 months, is to take command of the 3rd U.S. Army at Ft. McPherson, Ga.

Industrial growth with the resulting increase in jobs is the most important single problem facing our state. Every bit of its energy will be devoted to solving this problem."

New Mexico — Jack M. Campbell, 46, Democrat, first term: "I shall do my best to merit the confidence you have placed in me."

New Year Has Started With Blood

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The new year started with blood — fighting in the Congo and Viet Nam — just as 1962 started with assassinations in Algeria. Yet 1963 may be far less hair-raising, although much more talkative, than the year just ended.

If it is, it will be because 1962 turned out to be such a shocker before it was over. This was the Cuban crisis. No sign of any such crisis is in sight now. If anything, relations between the United States and Russia should be a little more sensible.

The biggest hope in the West is that the Soviet-Red Chinese partnership will split and, in splitting, cut the Communist world in half. Their relations now are strained to bursting by recriminations whose real origins no doubt run deeper than anyone here knows.

The biggest immediate problem of the West is whether Western Europe shall achieve real economic unity and whether particularly in the case of France, it will be content to save its money by letting the United States remain its nuclear guardian.

The Algerian massacres ended at last in 1962 in independence from France for the Algerians. The struggles in the Congo and Viet Nam were going on last year, and the year before, and in one form or another will probably be there in 1964, too.

They can be lived with so long as they remain dilemmas on the fringes of the rest of the world. What did not end until last year was almost over was the reckless — crazy is a better word — determination of communism to test the will of the United States to resist a Red push even in its own back yard.

This Russian attempt to slip missiles into Cuba was a gamble as the Soviets demonstrated by backing down when challenged. What they showed was that they positively lacked the will, and very probably the weapons for a showdown, at least then.

Premier Khrushchev cannot survive many such humiliating defeats, although in typical Moscow fashion he sought to make his withdrawal look like the act of a humanitarian.

Therefore, it can reasonably be expected he will now pause for station identification before taking another risk. He has shown signs of soft-pedaling his demands on Berlin.

After the Cuban crisis there were optimistic pronouncements out of Washington that big changes were in the making around the world. They may be, indeed. But as of now there is no evidence to support the optimism.

Khrushchev's pause can take two forms:

1. He can make tremendous effort to achieve overwhelming weapons superiority for Russia. If that could be done, it would take years. But it would also mean enormous sacrifices for the Russian people who are just beginning to enjoy some comforts.

2. He can drop his ambition for a Communist world — at least for a time — and seek reasonable relations, perhaps even solutions, with his Western neighbors.

Ailment May Bar Operation

MEMPHIS (AP)—A kidney ailment may complicate plans to separate Siamese twin girls by surgery.

"We are still hopeful the twins can be separated," a surgeon said Monday, "but feel surgery will be safer after they are a few weeks old."

The twins, joined at the chest and abdomen, are under study at a hospital. They were brought here from the Blytheville, Ark., Air Force Base hospital.

They were born Christmas Day to Mrs. Daniel G. McKay, 20, formerly of San Diego, Calif. She is the wife of an airman stationed at the base.

The surgeon said the twin with the faltering kidney does not seem as generally healthy as her sister. "We are doing more tests to see if some abnormality is responsible," he said.

Pleads Innocent to Slaying

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A teen-aged Negro pleaded innocent today to the slaying of another teen-ager and was bound over to circuit court on a second-degree murder charge.

Bobby Gene Walker, 16, was held without bond after a hearing in Municipal Court. He is charged in the death of Edward Lee Ray, 16, who was stabbed with a Boy Scout pocket knife after an argument in a house in Blytheville Dec. 26.

Circuit Judge Charles Light of Paragould will have to set bond. Walker will be tried in the spring term of circuit court.

This will become a necessity for him if Russia splits with Red China.

Although the Cuban crisis demonstrated that nuclear chaos can happen suddenly, it seems highly unlikely that the United States and Russia will in 1963 agree to disarmament or perhaps even to no inspected ban on nuclear testing.

Neither is likely to strip or limit itself in weapons — even if they could otherwise agree — so long as Red China remains both hostile and unpredictable, continue to build its arms, and is not a party to agreement.

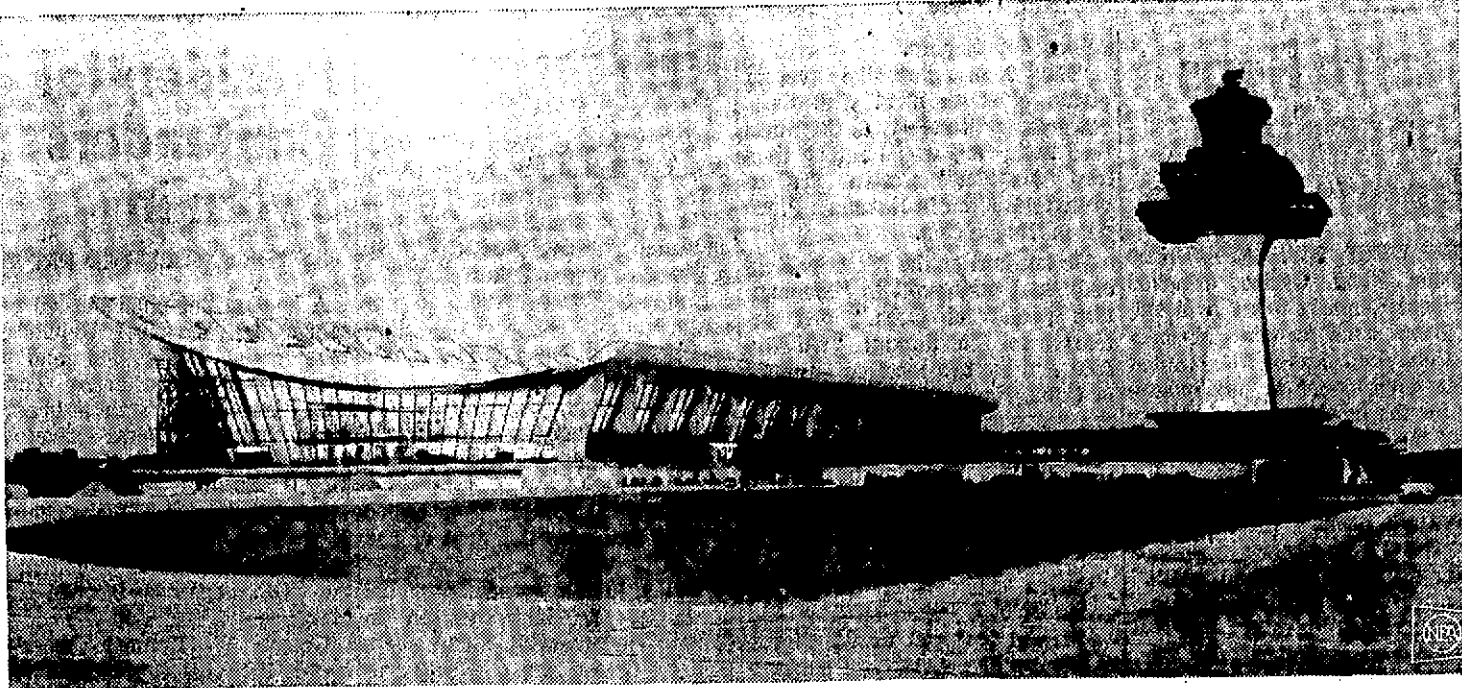

These next few years will seem extraordinarily calm and uncomplicated compared with what lies ahead when Red China develops its own nuclear weapons and begins to assert itself in a way which is too risky so long as it lacks such weapons.

Europe — meaning Britain and France — is to far behind the United States in the development of nuclear weapons it would take years, if ever, to catch up. The United States is against their trying.

It offers itself as the loyal ally who will use its weapons to protect Europe in case of need. It suggests its allies put their money into things other than trying to build individual nuclear forces.

This has not pleased French President de Gaulle. He may resist, preferring his usual do-it-yourself system for France. This whole problem will be fermented and tortured in the debates of 1963.

So will Europe's economic unity and, in one fashion or another, this country's role in that unity. It will be a big and busy year, certainly big in talk.

Rockefeller Takes Oath of Office

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller skimmed quickly over New York State matters in his second inaugural address today and devoted most of it to outlining a governmental philosophy that put him in the middle of the political road.

The 54-year-old governor, a top possibility for the GOP nomination for president in 1964, embarked upon his second four-year term at an inaugural ceremony attended by more than 1,000.

A National Guard unit boomed a 19-gun salute from a park adjoining the Capitol grounds as Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond of the state court of appeals, the state's highest-ranking jurist, administered the oath. The governor held his left hand on a Bible that belonged to his grandmother, Laura Spelman Rockefeller.

The governor's inaugural address was certain to be widely interpreted as evidence he is anxious to win the GOP nomination to challenge President Kennedy in the next national election.

Rockefeller has refused to discuss his political future, holding that any speculation about 1964 is premature.

In his address, the governor expounded such conservative-oriented principles as a belief that "the local community can justly appeal to the state for help in meeting its economic and social needs only if it does all in its own power to satisfy these human wants at the local level."

He called for the concept of fiscal integrity in government and said, "I believe that political leaders have the affirmative duty ruthlessly to prune out wasteful and nonessential expenditures of the taxpayers' money."

On a liberal tack, he turned to civil rights, asserting that "we must strive even more ceaselessly" to extend opportunity and dignity to "every member of all groups in our society, no matter what his race, color, religion, origin or status."

The governor repeated almost verbatim comments from his first inaugural message in which he held that such slogans as "liberal" or "conservative" had no meaning for dealing with problems facing the world today.

"There is a danger that the voter may mistake words for substance, pounce for basic solutions and be deluded by slogans and labels, such as conservative, liberal and progressive," he said. He then said, she did in 1958, that all three points of view—conservative, liberal and progressive—were needed.

Rockefeller also was sworn in at a quiet ceremony Monday night in the executive mansion.

That ceremony, held in the drawing room in front of a small group, assured the continuity of office when the governor's first

No Attempt to Open Mines

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP)—No attempt was made today to reopen the Robena coal mines of the U.S. Steel Corp. Miner had voted not to return until there was further investigation of two explosions at the mine which killed 39 men.

James Kelly, recording secretary of United Mine Workers Local 6321, announced the miners' decision Tuesday night. U.S. Steel had no comment.

A public hearing into the latest explosion is to begin Thursday afternoon.

The blast, which ripped through the Robena No. 3 mine at the Frosty Run shaft on Dec. 6, killed 37 men.

Two months earlier, two other miners died in an explosion in another area of the Robena mine. Kelly said about 600 working miners voted Monday to delay returning to the mines.

He said they want to know what caused the explosions, what has been done to correct the explosive conditions and what guarantees there are that there will be no term expired at midnight.

Other elected state officials—Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, both Republicans, and Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, were sworn in at the public ceremony today, all for new terms.

Rockefeller's references to New York State came in the closing passages of his inaugural address and were generalized.

The governor said his first term had brought New York "to a new and historic threshold of opportunity."

Wants Action and Not Words

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A spokesman for U Thant said today the U.N. secretary-general wants "actions . . . and not words" from Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

The statement was released at U.N. headquarters about the time Leopoldville reported an appeal from Tshombe for a meeting with a U.N. representative not engaged in the U.N. operation in secessionist Katanga.

The spokesman's statement declared that Thant believes it is too late for any negotiations with Tshombe and that the only discussions required now are on technical matter connected with the secretary-general's plan for reunification of the Congo.

The spokesman said his statement was issued because Thant felt the need for clarifying "certain interpretations of his (Thant's) position on the Katanga problem."

Got Things a Bit Too Hot

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—When temperatures plunged in this upstate New York city, Richard Valle put a 150-watt light bulb under the hood of his auto in the hope it would warm the engine. It did.

Valle told firemen early today that heat from the bulb ignited a blanket which also was under the hood. The blazing blanket set fire to the car.

more explosion. The Robena mines have been closed since the Dec. 6 disaster.

Money-Saving Main Dish

The oven takes over the "frying" job of this easy-do fried chicken. This tend-free method is a welcome one; the chicken pieces are turned but once midway in the cooking period. To insure juicy moistness inside and a crisp golden crust, the chicken pieces are dipped first in double-rich evaporated milk, then rolled in a seasoned mixture of flour and yellow corn meal before oven-frying. While the chicken is in the oven, simmer the giblets for gravy-making. The broth plus evaporated milk adds up to perfect gravy—so flavorful and creamy.

OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN

1 frying chicken (about 2 1/2 lbs.), cut up
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup yellow corn meal
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup butter

Wipe chicken pieces thoroughly. Mix flour, corn meal and salt in a pie plate. Dip chicken pieces in evaporated milk, then roll in corn meal mixture. Meanwhile, melt butter in baking dish (about 12 x 8 x 2 inches) in hot oven (400° F.). Place chicken pieces in one layer, skin side down, in baking dish. Bake 30 minutes, then turn pieces skin side up and bake until done, about 30 minutes longer. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

To make old-fashioned Creamy Chicken Gravy: Place chicken giblets, wing tips and back in saucepan; add water to cover. Cover pan and simmer until tender, about 1 hour. If available, add 1/2 bay leaf and a sprig of parsley or a few celery leaves when simmering the giblets. Remove giblets, wing tips and back from saucepan; cut meaty pieces in small pieces and set aside. Discard bay leaf and parsley or celery leaves; then measure broth. Melt 3 tablespoons butter in the saucepan. Remove from heat and stir in 3 tablespoons flour. Add 1 cup of the broth, then 1 cup evaporated milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Cook and stir until hot and thickened. Stir in giblets and serve hot with chicken.

MAN ON THE SKEWBALD MARE

By Nelson C. Nye

By NELSON C. NYE
XXXIV

Chilton, sanded the signatures on Rafe's Father's will. Then he got to his feet, dug into his safe and, still clutching the paper, turned around with the deed. Rafe put a hand out. "I'll count this money first," Chilton growled, pulling the string off the neck of the tow sack. He opened it up, took one look, and went rigid.

"Think careful," Rafe grinned, "before you lay down your character."

"I'm not trading that mortgage," the banker yelled, livid, "for no bag of iron washers!"

Rafe looked at him coldly. "You'll trade," he said, "or produce that note. You ain't dealing with an old man now—any crazy fool can slap an X on a paper! What these folks'll be plumb anxious to see is how a gent smart as you can make thirty thousand out of the five Pa borried."

"Sparks!" Chilton shouted, beside himself. "Arrest this man at once—do you hear?"

So wild did Chilton look he seemed almost to be frothing.

The sheriff, peering over the bore of Bill's rifle, said, "The worin has turned," and showed a slow grin. "What'd you do, forget the old man's name or change the amount?"

Whatever Chilton had done, it was a cinch the banker had not expected to be faced with it. He looked to be standing on the brink of apoplexy. His mouth was working but no words came. There was a twitch in his cheek and the papers skidded out of his shaking hand and fell to the floor.

Brownwater retrieving them, laid them in front of the dispassionate Pike who, considering them briefly, affixed his seal.

Brownwater wheezed the papers over to Bender. "There you are, sir. Lock, stock an' barrel," Chilton, glassy-eyed, sagged into a chair.

Then Spangler's harsh voice called: "Sheriff—can you hear me?"

"Speak on," Sparks said.

"I guess you know what we want. Are you sendin' him out or do we come in after him?"

"If you're yapping about Chilton..."

"I'm talkin' about the bankrobberin' rebel that calls hisself Rafe! We've got the place plumb surrounded! You 'givin' 'im up or ain't you?"

"He hasn't robbed any bank," Sparks told Spangler mildly.

"Don't give me that The whole town seen..."

"Spangler," Rafe called, "is Duke Bender out there?"

"An' if he is?"

"You better tell him his father, in front of six witnesses, just made a will... his last will and testament. Maybe we ought to have Pike read it to him..."

"You ain't pullin' no wool over my eyes!"

"Not fixin' to. Just tryin' to keep Duke from cuttin' himself out of what he's got comin'..."

"I'll look out fer Duke's interests!"

A suspicious silence hung over the street. Finally those in the bank heard the muttered sounds of a fierce altercation, after which Duke Bender's prissy tones said, sneering:

Pike, picking up a copy of the will, waddled over to the door. Sparks stepped aside for him.

Rafe, while the surgeon-turned-notary was plowing through the whereases and aforesaid, slipped out the side door. The pair of rifle-packing punchers Spangler'd set to watch this sinit had, the better to hear, drifted back to the bank's front corner, were now standing hipshot, faces half turned toward the notry's voice.

Bathsheba, Rafe remembered, had been left behind the building. A call would fetch her grounded or not. It would also spin those rifles into focus.

Rafe wasn't anxious to shoot those two fellers, and it wasn't very likely he could slip up behind them. He could probably a sight easier get to the skewbald mare...

The will would stop Duke but it wouldn't stop Spangler.

Rafe skinned back to the mare, hardly believing even when he was slipping off her headstall that he had actually reached her without triggering an alarm.

He batted her nose away from his face, tossed reins and bridle against the wall of the bank. He had a terrible hankering to jump on her back when he thought of the odds he was fixing to back.

But he turned her around, hearing the drone of Pike's words, aimed her straight at the woods and, with a wild coyote yell, cuffed her hard with his hat.

Not waiting to watch, he ran on around the far side of the bank, coming into the street just as three of the crew, following shouted orders from Spangler, kicked their horses into a run, though the unexpected sight of him obviously startled them, not one of them attempted to pull up or swerve.

Real Gone on Color Pictures

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Have you made any good resolutions for 1963? I have. I have resolved not to get tattooed. Living has taught me that in the matter of good resolutions it pays to move slowly and carefully.

On the way to a place where I sometimes lunch, I pass the parlor—or perhaps den is the better word—of a tattoo artist. His window is full of brightly colored designs and fascinating photographs of his human needlework.

For 10 years, I have had a wild and unwholesome urge to go inside and have a favorite design tattooed on my forehead—the great ship Titanic sinking—in four vivid colors. The design naturally includes the iceberg which caused the ship to go down.

Each year I have resolved not to yield to temptation and let myself be tattooed in this manner. I credit my success so far to inherent strength of character, and two other factors:

My wife says the sight of any kind of shipwreck makes her nervous, and Few companies would issue credit or lend money to a man with the sinking of the Titanic inscribed on his forehead, no matter how much such a tattoo would enhance one's prestige at cocktail parties.

When 1964 dawns, my forehead will be disappointingly bare as ever, but I'll have the consolation of knowing that I kept my word to myself and carried out the good resolution I made.

At the risk of being smug, I'd like to point out the major error of millions of Americans today in the seasonal throes of trying to fulfill their good resolutions.

They go on too big a self-improvement bing.

"I'm going to give up smoking, drinking and overeating," says the man. "I'm going to take off 20 pounds and get more exercise. I'm going to get more sleep, and loaf less at the office. I'm going to be kinder to my wife and children, and quit kicking the neighbor's dog around. I'm going to—" In three days he turns himself into a nervous wreck, and by the end of the week he has made everyone around him miserable, too.

The thing to do is to start with a small good resolution—the smaller the better—but then go ahead and keep it.

For example, why don't you, too, resolve to abstain from having the sinking of the Titanic tattooed on your forehead during 1963?

If the temptation becomes too irresistible, you can compromise by having it tattooed on your chest. You will still be a man of half-honor.

And half an honor is better than none.

When Arkansas was admitted to the Union in 1836, it had a population of about 55,000, one-fourth of whom were slaves.

Says Common Cold Just Imagination

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—“Don't worry, I never catch a cold,” said our friend, cheerfully, as she sat snoring on her snoring baby. “I don't believe in them.”

“A few years ago somebody told me the common cold was all in the mind. So the next time I felt that tickle in the roof of my mouth I sat down quietly and said to myself, ‘I don't have a cold.’ I didn't, either.”

“Maybe it's crazy, but for me it always works. Try it sometime.”

This kind of talk, addressed to a family which has snarled and snuffled and gargled since the premier partridge-in-a-pear-tree day of Christmas, is unpleasant. Like rubbing salt in the sinuses. Like telling a schizophrenic, “It's all in your mind.” But we remained calm.

“Very interesting,” we observed. The baby said, “ba-ba,” which may have meant either skepticism or “ma-ma” stuffed-up.

The friend left and we thought

Searcy Abandons Saturday Issue

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — The Searcy Daily Citizen will discontinue its Saturday edition as of this week, partly because of increased second-class mail rates affecting newspapers.

Perrin Jones, publisher, said one of the reasons for going to a five-day publishing schedule was to avoid passing on increased mail rates to subscribers.

Also, he said, many smaller daily newspapers have found they could better serve their communities by publishing five days a week.

Weekend features, such as television program listings and church news, will be published on Friday. The Citizen staff will prepare a program of local news to be broadcast on a Searcy radio station on Saturday, Jones said.

no more about her eccentricities until today when we read the results of some new common cold tests. They tend to prove her theory correct and our theory (that you catch a cold from a father who has caught a cold from a baby who has caught a cold from a baby sitter who has caught a cold from you) wrong.

It seems, according to various and many researchers, that the respiratory tract is the most sensitive of all organs to our emotional ups-and-downs. This leads many experts to believe that colds occur most frequently when we are in a period of emotional stress.

There is a large upswing in colds each fall and spring. This was formerly attributed to the fact that in changing climates we would “become chilled” or, in dressing too warmly, “become overheated.” But no research has been able to reveal any relationship between these factors and catching a cold.

On the other hand, many students of the cold now believe (according to “Science Digest”) that these seasonal changes make a person “unsettled.” And that in an unsettled psychological or emotional state, we become susceptible to the various—14 or more—virus which cause coryza, or the common cold.

It is also indicated that taking medication will improve our condition. If we happen to put faith in the medication we are taking, Dr. J. H. Dingle of Western Reserve University School of Medicine studied more than 1,000 cold victims and concluded that it doesn't matter what you dose

Faubus Declares Kerr a Friend

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today this state “lost the best friend it had in Washington” with the death of Oklahoma Sen. Robert S. Kerr Tuesday.

“The things in which he has been interested were most worthwhile for Arkansas,” Faubus said. “But when his help was needed, he always gave it, even if it was a project of no interest to his own

Tanks Lead Big Castro Celebration

By GEORGE ARFELD

HAVANA (AP) — Long lines of Soviet-built tanks moved into position today to lead the military parade on the fourth anniversary celebration of Fidel Castro's rise to power.

Heavy armor stood by ready to roll down the wide route through Plaza de la Revolucioin, where the prime minister and other dignitaries will review the troops.

Havana papers carried messages of congratulations to the Cuban revolutionary regime from the Communist world—playing up those from Peking and Moscow.

Crowds converged on the capital for the celebration.

Suggests Savings for Benefits

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A presidential emergency board recommended today that the Southern Pacific Railroad use parts of its cost savings from automation to provide benefits for railway clerks losing jobs.

The formula suggested by the three-man board is to form the basis for renewed negotiations between the road and the union.

The railway clerks threatened a strike against the Southern Pacific last year.

Kennedy set up the emergency board last Aug. 10 in an effort to devise some formula for avoiding a walkout and settling the dispute.

A key feature of the board's recommendations would provide furlough benefits for rail clerks losing jobs because of technological advances. The benefit would be paid by Southern Pacific and coupled with railroad unemployment insurance would give workers 70 per cent of regular earnings for up to one year, depending on length of service.

The board suggested that displaced employees receive displacement allowances, separation pay, maintenance of fringe benefits, moving expenses, and protection against real estate losses if forced to relocate.

The board would set up a co-operative railroad-union retraining program designed to prepare laid off workers for jobs in other fields.

J. Keith Mann of Sanford, Calif. was chairman of the emergency board. Other members were John P. Sembower of Chicago and Abraham H. Stockman of New York City.

Kennedy Plans to Attend Funeral

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy plans to fly to Oklahoma to attend the funeral Friday for Sen. Robert S. Kerr, and will return here immediately afterward. Mrs. Kennedy will not accompany him.

Accompanying the President will be Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana; Kennedy's military aide, Brig. Gen. Godfrey McHugh, and Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary.

yourself with—a prescription drug, plain aspirin, or merely salt water—you'll feel better just having taken something!

Obviously, the mind really does play a strong part in cold-catching.

But is the word “catch” appropriate? Not exactly. Researcher Dr. Alick Hill discovered that as a virus attacks a victim, the cells attacked produce a protective substance of their own. When they can produce it in sufficient quantity—at least to hold off the invading virus until anti-bodies in the blood become powerful enough to take over—the cold is prevented. When they fail, one “catches” (or perhaps the better description “gives in to”) a cold.

This is where first attack, sit down and settle your emotions. Say to yourself calmly, “I don't have a cold.” If your emotions, your cells and your anti-bodies, believe you, the battle may be won before it's started.

I'm going to try it next time, but some cynical cell inside me says it won't work. After this last siege, my anti-bodies are too hot to respond to pollyanna talk. What they need is a vaccine.

Which may, say the scientists, be some time in coming.

Russia Poses Threat to Oil Industry

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Tremendous Soviet Union oil reserves and rapidly growing output pose a real threat in the not too distant future to American oil companies. U.S. oilmen say that the 11 per cent jump in Soviet oil output in 1962 was anticipated. It is far from welcome news as the Communist bloc continues to upset selected markets—often for political reasons—with oil exports priced much lower than American companies can produce theirs. Such exports, now around 650,000 barrels a day, should reach a million barrels a day by 1965, oilmen here say. Already the Communists have captured 20 per cent of the Italian market, 18 per cent of the Swedish, and all of Iceland's. And while Italy has agreed to cut back its forward commitments will keep the flow high for some time. Others may have the same trouble reducing their imports. But the real threat lies in the huge reserves the Soviet Union could tap to offer a potential output of 14 million barrels a day by 1965, oilmen here say. President M. J. Rathbone of Jersey Standard Oil puts the threat this way: "In the present state of Soviet aggression, they mean to take over the world through economic and industrial domination. We have all been concerned greatly with the threats and alarms of Soviet military aggression. The threat of Soviet economic aggression is equally deadly."

How do the Soviets raid a market American oil companies once considered their own? One oil executive here explains it thus: "They can set any price they like without regard to economic laws. They can set the price so low that a free economy can't compete." They also use their oil as a medium of exchange, he points out. They often get paid in technology or in equipment which they can't produce. An example is steel pipe for the big oil lines they are building from their oil fields to Western Europe. The Soviets have had trouble turning out the right kind of pipe and have been buying it from England, Japan, West Germany and Italy. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has grown alarmed and is urging halt of such sales. England has refused and oilmen here doubt if the Japanese will agree, but the Germans and Italians have promised to halt the buildup of the Communist bloc's oil export potential. What can the United States do to curb Soviet raiding of Western markets? Oilmen here say there may be little it can do officially, but the government can put quiet

Movies Seem to Be Making a Comeback

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—That long-ailing giant, the movie industry, is at last showing signs of stirring from its sickbed. No industrial illness has been so widely diagnosed. But while the cures are well-known—competition of television and other forms of amusement, flight of production abroad for cost and tax advantages, rising film industries in Europe—the cure has been elusive. The movie bosses have concluded that there will be no dramatic solution to their problems, that they will survive only by better pictures, harder selling and sounder management. Eric Johnston, the constant optimist, sees a rosy future for the industry which he heads. To support his view, the president of the Motion Picture Producers Association declares that the number of theaters in the world rose from 79,000 in 1947 to 154,900 in 1960. The most encouraging news for pressures on its allies and friends to cut back their oil imports and their exports of equipment to the Soviet Union.

Hollywood came when MCA entered into a consent decree with the Department of Justice, which had sued to prevent merger of the show business giant with Decca Records and its subsidiary, Universal Pictures. With the announcement that the merger will be permitted, MCA disclosed a $10-million program for modernizing the Universal lot. It already hums with television filming by MCA's Revue, the networks' young supplier, and the features of Universal. The tough, young-minded management of MCA is expected to bring new vigor to the film business, which has suffered from hardening of the executive arteries.

Hollywood still faces a major problem in runaway production, which has been a hardship for labor. During one week, 15 features were being filmed in Hollywood while 21 American-sponsored movies were being shot overseas. The ratio would have been 10-1 in favor of Hollywood 10 years ago.

Dynamite Is Very Good Alarm Clock

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
ASWAN, Egypt (AP)

The morning alarm clock in Aswan is the roar of 5,000 pounds of dynamite. At 6 a.m. each day some 16,000 tons of granite erupts, moving that much closer to reality the giant Aswan Dam—Egypt's dream and the Soviet Union's largest foreign aid venture. "We are right on schedule," says Osman Ahmed Osman, contractor who is a key man in the project which may largely decide Egypt's fate in the 20th century and President Gamal Abdel Nasser's role in history. Nasser sees the dam as the crowning symbol of his socialist revolution. To back Nasser the Russians have lent $200 million and pledged as much again. This followed U.S. refusal to finance the dam. The well-being of Egypt's impoverished millions could well depend on the outcome. The dam is Egypt's chance to ease the relentless pressure of an exploding population 27 million people, a total which will be doubled in 25 years. The dam will give Egypt vast electric power plus almost a million acres of new farmland. Much of this can be plowed back into the economy without being offset by hungry new people. Egypt hopes the effect will snowball, making her the first industrial power in the Arab world. Work is now concentrated on a mile-long diversion channel—two thirds completed—through which the river will flow while the actual dam is constructed. This 300-foot-deep canyon will also house the power station perched over six awesome tunnels, each big enough to gulp down a three-story house. Work will start soon on the massive rock-filled structure that will eventually span the Nile. When completed it will be 436 feet high, 2.6 miles long. Contractor Osman's schedule calls for completion of the diversion canal in 1963, beginning of cofferdams early in 1963, a start on the power station in 1965, to have the first one-third of the electric power available by 1967 and completion of the whole project by 1970.

Spa to Install Whirlpool Baths

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Whirlpool baths, a new service recommended by a team of National Park Service experts after a study here, will be introduced to the spa bathing industry Tuesday. Robert L. Atkinson, superintendent of the Hot Springs National Park, said there is accepted medical opinion that submersion in the impelled, aerated therman water helps relax tensions and relieve pain. The new service is part of an overall modernization of the Hot Springs bathing industry announced this past summer.

U.S. to Furnish Equipment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will furnish supply and transport equipment, including trucks and armored personnel carriers, quickly to U.N. forces fighting in the Congo breakaway province of Katanga. Official sources said the United States has agreed to deliver by mid-January thirty trucks, six armored personnel carrier, and some mine-clearing equipment. In addition, three transport planes and one tanker plane will be stationed in Leopoldville to provide continuing transport facilities for support of the U.N. operation.

Emancipation 100 Years Ago

This teacher's pretty smile is one of satisfaction. She's finally broken through the "fumble barrier"—a reluctance on the part of teachers to operate a sound projector for fear of fumbling with the threading mechanism. According to Charles H. Percy, board chairman of Bell & Howell Company, "the 'fumble barrier' has been a major obstacle to widespread use of sound films in the classroom." "Although there are many good sound films available for grade and high school levels, and although it has been proven that use of a film increases a student's retention of a subject, many teachers still refuse to use films as teaching aids. They're convinced that a 16mm projector is difficult to operate and they don't want to risk the embarrassment of being unable to thread it successfully."

Bell & Howell has "shattered the fumble barrier," Percy says, with the introduction of the world's first automatic-threading 16mm sound projector, the Specialist Autoload Filmosound projector. The machine threads itself in three seconds after the tip of a reel of film is inserted in a slot above the lens. Mr. Percy predicted that the addition of automatic threading to 16mm sound projection will be as significant in its field as was the development of the dial system to the telephone. One thing is certain. More and more teachers will be able to break the fumble barrier and bring fine sound movies to the classroom.
